There are always two ways to be cheated. One is to believe what is not true and the other one is to not believe what is actually true. In the same way there are two ways of doing and spreading evil. One is to do and propagate evil and the other one, far worse, is to distort, mischaracterize and misrepresent that what is good and God. This attempt to cheat the laws of Karma, Life and Life Itself is a huge part of the root cause for all systemic and systematic evil here on earth. Remember, if you can make people believe in absurdities you can make them commit whatever cruelty!

See, the most basic feature and fundamental requirement in every society and every culture in history is the answer to the question of what is good and what is not good. Good is always that which is caring for, including and envisioning the we, that which is going beyond the me or the I. Some call it Service to Self vs Service to All. Now you all have, mostly unconsciously, identified and thus entangled that good, that we with that idea called The Creator-God. Now, the crucial point is this, I've thoroughly inquired this The God and, lo and behold, I've found out that the we offered by this God has no space, no use, no respect and no virtue and value at all for me. Nor has it any value and respect for you. That means that this we offered by this God is a lie. It is no we at all. Understand? We say that caring about we is better than only being in service to and caring about the I and we say that this service to the we is what we call good. Fine, so good means that we care about and serve the we, us all, meaning you, you, you, her and him and all others and including me myself as well, right? Otherwise, it wouldn't be the we but the you plural. As I have said, I found out that my I has zero meaning for this The Creator-God, so I clearly know that his we is a lie, his good is a lie! Oh, and the same is true for all your mes, too, for sure.

By now it should have become obvious that we have not really understood the one key attribute of Life and Life Itself: Freedom! And namely the fact that freedom is not the opposite of law, order and rules, but freedom is in fact a rule or a law. The Rule! The one and only law. Freedom is the law of which all other rules and laws have been derived of and the problems we have in this world are simply that we have forgotten that most basic and fundamental fact and law of Life and Life Itself. All the laws we have created over tens of millennia were merely invented to make freedom possible and to let the process of (human) life flow smoothly because one could argue that the people are not fully conscious all the time and so these laws are helpful to enable freedom as best as possible. So far so good. But the mistake we have made as a civilization is that we have forgotten that and that we've lost our aim and intention and thus we failed to write and curtail our laws in such a way that it would eventually lead to fewer and fewer rules being needed, and not more. For the intention was, and still is, to aim for a culture and a civilization where everybody is naturally fully conscious and aware so that the concept of freedom and liberation is fully realized and thus almost no more laws are needed because a conscious, ethical and truthful way to conduct life is fully internalized and practiced. So, in practical terms I do not advocate for abolishing all current laws now. What I am advocating is to learn to write, curtail and re-write our laws in such a way that the use of these laws and the conduct of a people and civilization under these laws will eventually lead to the need for less and less laws. And one very key element toward this aim is that we revert from a kind of law of dogma to the principle of the law of taboos. The concept of taboos is very much in harmony with the concept of the Law of Freedom and thus with Life and Life Itself whereas dogmas simply are not. Dogmas are lethal poison to a culture, a nation, a people and a civilization!

Positivistic (Dogma-) Law means everything is forbidden except for it is explicitly allowed by law. That's the wrong way around. It's about the geometry of law. Positivistic Law is inverted Negativistic (Taboo-) Law. One says, all is forbidden except it is explicitly allowed, while the other one says, everything is allowed, except it is explicitly forbidden! The one works with dogmas and the other one with taboos. One is toxic law, and one is healthy law. One is Law of Death, and one is Law of Life.

So, the living man stands before the constitution, and not the law is sacred but the will and the integer intent to create, honor and abide by the law is sacred. That means that the most important and fundamental aspect of law and of what makes a certain system and its laws work, is located completely outside of the realm of law. Only the intent, integrity and the will to understand each other and to cooperate and honor agreements is what makes any set of rules, meaning laws, into a beneficial and smoothly working process and thus is of primary importance. That is the crucial point of our problem here on earth right now. The problem we are dealing with is not that it would be too complex and difficult to find the right laws and to do the right thing for mankind in order to achieve peace and freedom for all, but the problem is that there are forces, people and entities who are simply not willing. Simply not willing to grant the others the same basic sovereign rights to a free life, destiny and existence as they themselves are enjoying. The quality and content of the laws is important, too but only of secondary importance because when it is clear that man stands before the constitution, meaning the living man is the sovereign and not the law is sovereign and that the law is derived of the sovereignty of man and not the other way around, then it is obvious that the quality and the content of laws can be easily changed and adjusted to the needs and wishes of the free people. That's what sovereignty means.

So, I declare the following truth. At the basis of every culture and society in the history of mankind there is a social contract. A contract between and among the living people and not a contract with any so-called god. That social contract is broken in our current world, and we need to fix it. God doesn't need a contract with you. That's a silly idea of people who try to cheat Life Itself and their fellow mankind. And ultimately themselves, too. Or in other words, your life, your energy, your life-force, and the living vibrating consciousness which is oscillating right now within and through your entire being, your spirit and through your very blood is the very contract that you have with your creator. No words, papers, letters, signs and seals, contracts, treaties, fine-print or privilege-clauses are needed here and everyone who is telling you otherwise is a liar, a cheat and an evil traitor to you and to Life Itself.

Now we are able to answer the question whether the Cosmos, God, Life Itself is working top-down or bottom-up. That is the only question you must answer yourself in order to put yourself in the position of opening every door in the cosmos. In a way all this craziness in the world is in fact very easy to understand. What you all are complaining about, from money, politics, taxes, sovereignty, government, Big Tec, censorship, surveillance, Big Pharma, Great Reset, warmongering and all the rest of it is in fact always the same thing. You are complaining about the fundamental template and structure of all our ideas and systems of organizing communal, national, regional, state and all other common affairs, the commons, or die Allmende in German. It is always built according to the well-known top-down structure. I bet you've heard of the symbol of the pyramid but maybe you just never understood its painfully obvious meaning: Top Down! Yeah, exactly like modern man loves to scream in every realm, from sports, industries, war, politics and their most beloved pet, religion: The winner takes it all and all the losers can go flush themselves down the toilet. Now that we can recognize the problem and the common thread to this problem, let's ask where it comes from. What is the root cause for such obnoxious behavior? Who has taught us this? And the answer is very easy and obvious. It is coming from your most basic assumptions about and the very starting point of your identification, paradigm and world view of this cosmos and this reality, namely The God! Your assumption, belief and indoctrination are this all powerful, omnipotent and omnipresent The God which is the greatest personification of the principle of top-down, is it not? All this notion, which is the most fundamental maxim of law in our Western construct of law, that he is The Creator and that he owns everything and every life, including you and everybody else, is the clearest and most profound expression of a top-down structure. How stupid is it to even think that the actual force of creation is only remotely closely interested in owning anything, much less the whole of creation? This clearly shows that the people who believe in such sinister nonsense do not and did not have any real experience and don't know about that force of creation for themselves. Otherwise, they would understand that the act and deed of creating is coming from an abundance and an endless overflowing where the idea of scarcity, owning and being the chief controller of said creation is the absolute last thing such a gifted force would ever waste only one second with. This whole creation does exist and did come into existence precisely because that force of creation is not the least bit interested in owning but in sharing that overflowing wealth, life, wisdom, energy and spark of Life Itself. So, the idea of top down is not coming from The All That Is, The Pure Essence but from greedy, small-minded, mischievous and simply lying and evil men and entities. Are you able to follow that thought through? If the most basic template of mankind's perception of reality is completely upside down, then it is no wonder that everything in this world is upside down and that it is such an obnoxious mess. So, to wrap this up, the problem in today's world is that everything is top-down structured and that is because we believed that this force of creation which we call God is structured and has structured all creation according to the top-down principle, when in fact it is structured bottom-up. To be really precise it's in fact structured inside-out. Meaning that the healing for mankind is, after fully having recognized this basic truth of Life Itself, to learn to perceive this force of creation as bottom-up and subsequently organize our societies, states, communities and peoples according to the bottom-up principle.

Rights are what we assume, and legal bankruptcy is the inability of a legal system to provide justice to those subject to the law. An institution, especially a legal institution, reveals legal bankruptcy if, for example, it allows liars to reach the top, makes smugglers into secretaries, fraudsters into cashiers, forgers into minute takers, impostors into assessors and blackmailers into legal supervisors. Under such circumstances, only a return to generally recognized values such as truth and freedom and legal principles such as pacta sunt servanda, prohibition of arbitrariness, competition, etc. can promise improvement. #GerhardKörblerDictionaryOfLaw

That means that rights and laws in actual reality do not exist, they are an assumption, a presupposition, a fiction. Lawful definition of fiction: Fiction is that dictate of justice that describes a non-existing fact as an existing one! On that basis our current law in the world is practiced. Now we know and have established and confirmed as practiced and utilized law that our rights and laws are not coming from God but from assumptions that have developed and have been implemented by man over the course of our history. What is indeed coming from God is claims but here it is very important to carefully distinguish and be conscious about the realm and situational reality one is in when using the word god because there are two separate realms which are penetrated and worked upon via the use of the projecting and manifesting force, power and meaning of this word: God. To use this word, carefully and conscious of its meaning, in the social realm and in human society and the human condition related way and realm is pretty ok to do, for that word is simply hinting at that what is indeed and actually real but outside or beyond of the human realm, knowing, reality and outside of human society and it is forever impossible to entangle that absolute onto a 100% defining word, symbol, term, object or sound. That's why we have this and similar terms and words in the first place, to hint at something which is not a creation and a consequence of man but absolute in and of itself! So, in that sense, it is used in a relative meaning. Not relative in the sense of its relation to itself, that's absolute, but relative in its relation to man and mankind. That means that it is appropriate to use that word carefully and conscious of its meaning and of the boundaries of its meaning. In the realm of man and in human society. In the absolute sense, meaning in the presence of that what once before was called God, that word becomes not only utterly useless but outright wrong, false and misleading in its meaning. Remember; we only use this word to carry us to The Absolute but the moment you start to make contact that word shatters, collapses and is of no value and use anymore. It is and was only a tool to carry you over the abyss. That's why I, for one, do not use the word god anymore when I am referring to the actual, real and absolute but I still accept to use this word in the human realm, given that it is made 100% clear that its use is only for the relative, meaning man's, realm, and not referring to the absolute meaning and the Actual Thing. If I need or want to use a word for God in the absolute sense, though I rarely use a word at all for that, I nowadays use the term Life Itself or The All That Is or The Pure Essence. Remember that the word god, as it is designed to be only the tool to carry you through, has its use only as long as you have not reached the Other Side, the Absolute. The moment you've landed you need a different word or even better an entirely different language because your relationship and your position towards and within the absolute has profoundly changed so that the old meaning and its use can be of no further use anymore in deepening that relationship and in bringing it to full bloom and flowering. Having said that, we can now go on and see what the difference between claims and rights is using the word god in this human context without any further problem and confusion for our discussion. It looks like we have another one of mankind's famous Logical Syntax Errors here. We are misunderstanding claims and rights; we are confounding one for the other. As I've said so many times, we are constantly confusing cause and effect for each other. From the tiniest and from the most mundane to the greatest and most sacred things in life. That which is God-given and immanent and born-in into every human being are claims and not rights. The rights are the consequences that we as cultures have established in the conscious awareness of these claims, without the recognition and enabling of which no life, culture and civilization could and would be possible. And the same confusion of claims and rights has happened with the confusion of sympathy and empathy.

Hence, we've got to understand the fundamental difference between sympathy and empathy. In the social realm both are beautiful and valuable whereas in the spiritual realm man is going by empathy while sympathy is not only worthless but in fact a fierce and dangerous obstacle. Jesus and 99% of all modern-day religious and esoteric so-called awakened dudes haven't understood the fundamental difference between sympathy and empathy. And that has been proven to be fatal. I'm talking about the mythical-narrative persona here. Historically it was not one single dude. And they've mixed in a lot more stolen parts from the stories and teachings and insights of hundreds of other spiritual seekers from centuries and millennia before. I'm pretty certain that there is nothing truly original, or honest for that matter, to this offered Jesus-teaching-and-storyline. It's all copied, plagiarized, stolen and additionally heavily misunderstood and heavily distorted and instrumentalized. To speak with good old Frank Sinatra: He bit off more than he could chew and subsequently he choked on it, this maybe well-meaning but never-the-less very limited and unidimensional Jewish Rabbi Teacher Messiah Character. I'm talking here about the entities in charge of and behind that Operation Nailman; because that's what it was: An intelligence operation.

Which brings us to the actual point here. Let's take a closer look at these presumably sacred and benevolent teachings. We'll take just one example. That one example of his teachings which presumably makes him unique; his unique selling point as you, modern man, would call it. You shall love your enemy! He is simply exaggerating and overdoing the age-old well-known theme of a warrior with honor and integrity is respecting his opponent and the Warrior- and Spiritual Wisdom of hate in all its shapes and forms is something you simply don't want and have no use for and are not dealing in, especially if one is walking the spiritual path. He is just over-doing it and thus crossing the line into ridiculousness, stupidity, anti-logic, anti-meaning and anti-life by commanding to twist that age-old wisdom of empathy into love your enemy, meaning into sympathy. It's the mentality of children who finally have understood a certain joke and now are repeating it in many variations and bouncing those slightly varied permutations of this pattern of a joke at each other and exaggerating it to death. Meaning taking it to the extreme and stretching it to such an extent that the joke is sucked dry so to speak. Suddenly the joke doesn't work anymore, done. Lost its mojo. Like this the Jesus is over-doing it. And that is precisely the trick to catch you all, because just like the kids in the example above he understood the mechanics of pushing, repeating, plagiarizing, culminating and expanding a certain understood principle and pattern to the extreme and he just mechanically rendered that idea $\lim \rightarrow \infty$, et voilà: You got his total idiotic nonsensical demand of loving your enemy. And the funny or rather pretty sad thing is that it is exactly that absolutely nonsensical exaggeration which fascinates you all and is bonding you and holding you captive, because you don't understand, and rightly so, how he could do such an irrational thing as loving the enemy. And the only explanation you can come up with and have been heavily indoctrinated with is that oh, there is no logic; so that is the sign of how good and holy this dude is! "Be empathic, even with your enemy!" That's what he should have used, if he indeed wanted to spread benevolent and truthful insights. And if this principle were fully understood and applied sympathy and antipathy would lose all its meaning and justification as a word and thus as an idea to exist. And thus, as is observable and proven in all the religious, spiritual new-age, esoteric, secret societies, guru-cults, prophecy-adepts, Kali-yuga-disciples and whatnot freaks, it is easy to see and to understand why their spiritual end-goal is always this Law-of-One-We-are-all-One-big-blob-of-Bliss-Bullshit and the only goal in all these millions of different cults is always in the end to dissolve and negate individuality totally and completely. Annihilation! Being happily reunited with this big God-Bliss-Energy-Blob-I-am-you-you-are-me-we-are-all-Bliss-Blob-Law-of-One. This is/are the religion/s of falsehood. This is the false, so-called, God, Most High aka The Creator-God! Individuality and individuation as part and intent of creation as well as the antipathy-empathy-sympathy-apaty-complex is completely misunderstood by the current mankind. And the funny thing is that it is absolutely not necessary in the first place. Empathy is more than enough to not do any hate, crime, violence or evil. The truth is that sympathy is not only not needed and not helpful in avoiding evil and sin but it is in fact, as I and others have found out after close inspection, very often the case that mis-understood, mis-guided and mis-interpreted and mis-judged sympathy plays a huge part for itself in almost all situations of evil, hate, violence, crime and sin. That very teaching and the subsequent cultural, religious, civilizational, mental, emotional and spiritual substitution of ill-suited sympathy for the natural, healthy, sacred and life-and-law-endorsing empathy is the very door that opens and caters to evil, lies, crime, violence, untruth, sin, coercion, fraud and a lot more obnoxious attributes of modern civilization and modern man. Yes, truth is not a remedy. It's a Killer.

Hence, I urge you all to recognize that these forever wars are the logical consequence of unfulfilled forever prophecies! Surely, you all have heard of the notion that nowadays the wars fought by the Empire of Chaos shall not even be won anymore. The goal is not to win them but to have these absolute civilization-collapsing forever-wars which are just dragging on and draining the entire world and are pulling mankind down into the black hole of nihilism, nothingness and utter decay and annihilation. And sure, they think they are going to profit from all this war and from this, that or the other opportunity that arises through all these carefully crafted chaotic circumstances, but that is not what I want to focus on and not what I am talking about here. Instead, let me observe to you the fact that the same mechanism is at play when it comes to all those messianic, biblical, eschatological, salvation prophecies and end-time-rapture-narratives. The trick is that they were never meant to be fulfilled but instead shall send you and all faithful believers onto a never-ending hail-expectation trip that shall and will never be fulfilled because it was and is a lie from the very get-go. It will keep you locked inside that mental hallucinatory prison and will fulfill the true purpose of this sinister manipulation by making sure that you will stay totally confused for your whole life on all most profound and fundamental levels of cognition, perception, clear thinking and the conscious performance of your own immanent conscious sacred will and intent. It keeps you busy and occupied with a search, a vision and a seeking which is a fiction, and the true purpose of it is that this will make sure you cannot do what you are supposed to do with your life as a free, sovereign and conscious living being. Namely, to go on the real vision, path and seeking for truth, liberation, freedom, Life Itself, enlightenment, realization, spiritual fulfillment, ascension and the mastery of consciousness.

Mankind, you are still going by the Doctrine of Discovery!

Officially we are saying that the so-called Doctrine of Discovery is over and null and void by now and we are shamelessly celebrating us for that oh-so-great civilizational triumph. I won't go into all the legal and lawful nitty-gritty here, the documents, the phrasing, dates, the entities involved and the question whether they had any authority over that subject matter in the first place or not. There are others who are doing this and are better equipped to do that in an academic and lawful way and style, but fact is that this doctrine, that template, blueprint or archetype of The winner takes it all, cause that's basically all this doctrine says, is still the most basic and most applied template of performing and conducting life, business, science, politics, law and lawfare, money-fare, arts and music, education, research, religion, war and peace, philosophy and everything else that matters in human society. When I look at all our human endeavors all I can see is patents, copyrights, claims of ownership, claims of inheritance, claims of superiority, claims of privileges and always, always the attempts, including lies, fakes, deceptions, killing, stealing, black-mailing and so on, to establish the claim of the fact that one has been the first in achieving and realizing whatever. A new technical breakthrough, a new medication, a new territory, a new method or procedure of something, a new deep insight into whatever, a new scientific discovery, a new-something-whatever-material-or-immaterial, and then claim, copyright and own it. And make sure that everybody else must pay tribute, tax, customs, patent fees, usufruct and such. In a sense, that's the equivalent to the ancient Bending the knee. So, as a rule of thumb we can say that bending the knee is the actual and factual credo and law that completely rules all domains in this world in 2025, agreed? Now, let me observe to you the very paradox and confusing fact that when we open our eyes and look at what is really actually happening in everyday life we see that everything is ruled according to the Doctrine of Discovery, aka bending the knee, but at the same time when I look very deeply into the essence and root of all the laws of mankind, the papers, the words, the documents, the assumptions, the cornerstone, it is all derived in the very end from the assumption and dogma that god is the exclusive owner of everything. Meaning real, actual owning isn't something for man and mankind at all, that's what it says, without explicitly saying it. Funny, we are proclaiming and intellectualizing one way, but we are acting 180° the exact opposite in actual everyday real life. As we will see, that might be no coincidence but might be due to a certain agenda behind it. Wasn't there once a dude who said something about preaching water and drinking wine?

There is more to religion and its origins, for those of you who haven't heard about these things and about this part of ancient history. All your current religions have common roots, tens and probably even hundreds of thousands of years back. That common roots are many different entity-groups and races and the so-called Law of One is their doctrine, which one of the last versions given under that name were the so-called Emerald Tablets by Thot, The Egyptian/Atlantean. That Law of One simply states that All is One or All is God and from that basic assumption or doctrine all religions were derived. That doctrine is utter evil and sinister crap! I like to sarcastically call it The one question to rule them all.

Well, here is the very simple solution for mankind's legal and lawful and spiritual disaster. Let's stop declaring ourselves and each other literally and legally binding as (dead) persons and thus stop treating ourselves and each other as dead things, aka as (legal) person. Inanimate dead and unconscious slave beings. Lost at The High Seas, died the Civilian Death or German: Der Bürgerliche Tod. And no Intestate Dead Baby Estates or Dead Baby Scam either. It's that simple, we just have to do it. You obviously still do not get it, that all my claims, and the same applies to all men and women, are not coming from any piece of paper, any contract made by people centuries ago. Any contract I haven't made or agreed to by myself, or which has been inherited but was and still is based on deception and fraud is null and void. Contracts are derived from Life Itself and that Life Itself is Now Present Here! That's what most of you would call God. No need to go back millennia and quote that what somebody else thought about what somebody else thinks about what someone else believes about that thing called Living Reality or God. That is childish. You and everybody else don't know shit about a dead man's perspective but that's all you are doing. Quoting what the forefathers thought, quoting what this so-called Jesus thought, quoting what the Romans thought, quoting what the Phoenicians thought and so on. But that's not the way Life, Life Itself and Living Law work. You are all interested in power versus I am interested in authority. Real, actual living authority. You know the difference? Power is always granted by someone or something and thus can always be taken away again for it's not genuine, whereas authority is derived from within the living, conscious being and is granted by Life Itself. You want to organize a society under the power and rule of what you believe to be the Word of God whereas I want to create a human society of free, conscious, self-ruling living beings, who can and should and will and are allowed to experience, communicate and interact with The Force for themselves without any intermediary. No Pope, no Jesus, no Mother Marry, no Buddha, no Muhammed, no Shiva and not you or me as well. Free, sovereign and self-conscious.

So, go and change the UN Charter and with it all the constitutions around the world and add just one sentence: The Civilian Death or German, Der Bürgerliche Tod, the legal and lawful status of Lost at The High Seas doesn't exist, doesn't apply, doesn't take place and never has and never will, including all the tremendous legal and lawful consequences. It's just that we have to make sure to get rid of this one thing: The Lie – The Cardinal of all Sins!

Think of it this way. All the so-called sins need one sin as kind of a prerequisite. This is like the Cardinal Sin of all, for without that one the other sins wouldn't be committed. That's the lie and deception. Without the option of lying, either to oneself or others, the other sins wouldn't work out. At least 99% of them, which is fairly a great percentage for a start. So, let's get rid of the cultural acceptance of lying of the current mankind and we'll see unbelievable changes for the better sweeping around the earth in no time. And just in case you don't know this for yourself already, the lie is like an infection, it works both ways, outside and inside. We always tend to think that we are able to control the distortion of reality, the lie. Meaning that we will be able to keep track of where we lied to others and where not and we will keep the record straight within us. Well, you see me laughing because that is a proven hypocrisy. The moment you lie to the outside and to the others, that infection is there within you and if not taken care of properly, it will behave like cancer, and we all know the rest of the story. But the good thing is that now we know where responsibility and healing lie and therefore we are enabled to work out our way.

So, let's do it. Let's live according to the maxim of you shall not lie! The only one true commandment. For the record, the term lie includes actions like deception, omission, half-truth, false framing, undisclosed clauses and things of that sort. That's all, it's that easy. You simply should not lie, never. Not about others and not to others and not even to yourself. That's in fact where all the evil always starts. Nobody would steal and rape, kill and plunder and deceive and secretly start wars or go after the wife of another man if he would adhere to the rule of not lying. It is obvious, isn't it? No war ever started with one party declaring we are power-hungry and so now we come and take away what is yours. No, never! It's always under the pretext of a false flag event, a lie, a distortion of reality, a false narrative, false claims and media propaganda and such. Always it is needed to twist reality in such a way that the evil criminal liar can blame all the guilt on the other one, the more or less innocent victim. Similarly, no man ever goes to another man and says, I'm going to take your wife or steal your house or deceive you via this fine-print in the contract or this sub-prime-mortgage or going to murder this or that guy or any other evil action. Sure, because then that crime wouldn't work out. It is only working in combination with the lie. The criminal and evil one always includes lies in his crimes. Without that lie, in a civilization where everybody adhered to the taboo of not lying, nobody would dare to commit these evils because of the law and public opinion and thus the entire force of mankind and human society would stand against the evil, criminal liar and they wouldn't dare to commit such a deed.

Now, we partly have some kind of laws that will punish you for lying. But only in very specific cases and not on a general basis. For example, if you lie in court and they are going to catch you, you will be punished. Although mostly the punishment is ridiculous compared to the damage done by it to all the rest of society. They can all lie without any serious consequences. Just look at all the media and politicians and scientific studies and their public relations, mega corporation White Books and intelligence agency reports and NGO reports of the likes of the White Helmets and their own false flag activities, the ridiculously false climate models done on purpose and so much more. Especially carbon dioxide human induced global warming, which is wrong on so many levels. All without legal and lawful consequences but with tremendous dire and bad consequences for the people, the earth and mankind and society at large. In fact, the lie has eaten itself to such deep levels into our societies that we have reached a point where the judicial system and the courts and attorneys and judges are liars themselves. Yes, I say it: Our civilization is Rechtsbankrott, Lawfully Bankrupt or Bankruptcy of Law! The sad but logical consequence of many centuries of tolerated lying. Think about it! How could one ever expect a sane and peaceful world like that? It's impossible.

And now look at this world and ask yourself: Is that not exactly what is happening? Medical science doesn't heal but is creating more diseases. Banks don't provide real, actual lawful money. Political leaders don't work for the greater good of the people. The food industry is not providing healthy food but is largely poisoning people. The agrobusinesses are not creating healthy soil and land but are draining the land, so that the microbiological content of soil is now below 1% on a worldwide level. The rivers are drying up and desertification is eating up huge patches of land. The so-called ecological and environmental movement is not solving a single problem but is creating far more additional problems via their half-backed fake solutions. The so-called green technology energy measures are not helping to solve energy problems and are not providing energy to society but on the contrary are making it more expensive, scarcer and by far more disruptive for the environment. The priesthood and the religions are not leading people to freedom and enlightenment, but they are the ones who are literally penetrating our children in the millions and hence are creating more suffering and the next generation of crippled and deranged members of society. The greatest peace prizes are given to the greatest murderers. The greatest scientific prizes and budgets are given to ridiculous sophisticated charlatans. The greatest credibility, voice and attention in our societies is given to actors, pretenders, ball-game idiots and below average musicians who are pussy-raping and crime-glamorizing. And I and many of you yourself could go on ranting like this for hours, days and weeks but the funny thing is this. If I talked to you, all 8 billion, on a one-to-one basis, you would all say that it is the others and that you are part of the good ones because you are a believer in God.

Can you see the sad and paradox irony here? It's always the others. But imagine I talked to all 8 billion and everybody is saying, it's the others. Then let me ask you. Who are the others, if not you yourself? And here we are coming full circle now. As I've said in the beginning, the mistake is that you start with an assumption, make this assumption into a belief and then a dogma and are now observing everything through that falsifying dogma. Your belief in a god that you don't know, never met and just have been indoctrinated with for sinister and nefarious purposes. It is this vicious cycle that is the root cause of all systemic evil here on earth. I believe in God. God is good and thus, because I believe in God and am thus a part of him, I am per definition the good one which leaves only one option left for the other one: He must be the bad and evil one! Dang! Trapped in a death spiral. We could call that spiritual vanity or the religious Dunning-Kruger-Effect.

You all know this saying: The system did not fail but it is doing exactly what it was designed for! Well, the same is true here. The religions, the churches, the Vatican and their teachings, doctrines, laws, claims, dogmas and messengers haven't been corrupted, infiltrated and been taken over. No, they are doing exactly what they were invented for. That's what I have been trying to tell you for 10 years now and that's the only one fundamental thing you and I differ in our view of this Living Reality, meaning this is the only thing that separates us. But, as I've said many times, it's not me who is initiating the divide and separation, El Diabolo, the Splitter, but it's you. Because it's not me who wants you to admit inferiority to and bow down to anyone or anything but it's you who think you know better than me that in this reality I must bow down to this Jesus and to your god. But again, it's only in your head and in your fiction and you are the one who is pushing on me and is invading and violating my sovereignty by thinking that you, or anybody else for that matter, any priest, pope or other religiously blinded whoever, have the right to give me that kind of spiritual ultimatum: If you don't love and bow down to my god and his messengers then I cannot see and treat you as equal! Here you will have passed the verdict yourself and on yourself and will have judged yourself and proclaimed yourself to be guilty of having committed the greatest abuse and evil in the cosmos.

So, let me explain to you the intent behind inventing a dogmatic, codified, all-encompassing, omnipresent and omnipotent God. By implanting the fictitious idea of The God into your deepest inner core, your soul, the energetic blueprint of yourself, your being, the Satt-Va as it is called in Sanskrit, you are per definition denied ownership of the only thing you should ever own: Your own Self! See, man is running around like crazy for millennia, trying to claim and to own everything. From the earth to gold, slaves and women to genomes, water, air, patents, ideas, even frequencies, the souls of the dead and the living, and much more. But we never find satisfaction and always remain hungry for more, because all these things will never fulfill our true and natural longing. Namely, to be in possession of and to own ourselves! But unfortunately, all the really good things in life are only possible if you own yourself. To love, to be mindful and conscious, to give and invest in a greater cause, to marvel, to grow and learn, to be creative and to recognize and realize The All That Is. Spiritual growth, responsibility, free will, devotion and much more are only true, authentic, and valuable once you have begun to accept the only real challenge in life: Facing yourself and taking responsibility for and ownership of yourself. Now, the funny, or rather tragic, thing is this. When you take this absolutely natural step and stand up and publicly declare ownership of yourself, including all the consequences, centuries and millennia of dogma, mind-control and brainwashing have ensured that all the other slaves – your fellow mankind - will rise up, scream blue murder, curse you with brimstone and hell, and declare you being evil. Like those rats in that experiment where rats punish other newcomer-rats when they try to free themselves and leave the cage because the former have already deeply internalized the bondage, the punishment and the slavish behavior and conditions. And like this it is very easy to control the masses. You just have to have control and ownership of the copyright and franchise rights to this god and to the narrative that comes with it, et voilà, you are deep in the deepest emotional, mental, energetic and existential layers of individual human beings and the entire mankind, and you can mess with them, guide them and manipulate them in every crazy, sinister, ruthless, bloody, despicable and insane way imaginable.

But sure, there is something which deserves the name The Spark of Creation, Life Itself, The All That Is or The Pure Essence, but it's not any of the so-called gods of the established religions of at least the last 10.000 years, and thus none of their saviors is actually genuine. And sure enough it's not one of those seemingly opposing other guys like this Satan, Lucifer, Dajjal, Antichrist, Devil or such nonsense, those are merely the so-called sidekicks or henchmen of the self-proclaimed gods. Go(o)d cop – Bad cop! You see, one can take the correct story or theme, matters, plot and questions and just turn it into the exact opposite. I bet, you all know that from your politicians, scientists, priests and popes, medical doctors and vaccine disciples; from your media Talking-Heads, your Nobel Price Committee, your historians, your Hollywood and other useless parasitic so-called Proms, your NGOs, your oh-so-well-meaning Secret Societies, your teachers and the education system in general, your lawyers and judges and the judicial system in general, your military and intelligence agencies, your bankers and high business-tycoons and tech-giants and many more kinds of apologists. So please, tell me: How can you not come to the only logical and possible conclusion, namely, to recognize that the only reason for all this being possible and the one single common thread to connect all of this and to explain it in a sufficiently logical and reasonable way is to see that there must be one huge, big fat lie. A distortion of the most basic truth that has infected all of mankind. Look as closely as you wish and I guarantee you, the only thing you will and can find that fits the description, is that the god story is false! Told in the most dangerously, 180° falsified way. This Most High is not and cannot be exclusively outside of oneself, and it is not and cannot be a being/an entity, although it is for sure alive, more alive and conscious than anything and anyone else, no question about that. But not a being (entity), not exclusively outside of oneself – and as well not exclusively within oneself - and thus available to everyone to the same easy or difficult degree. But all your religions tell you otherwise. For sure, because without that twist they could not build a dogmatic slave system upon that assumption. Nearly all of you fell for that scam.

See, we are living in a time where many people think and observe that many things are upside down in this current world. As a consequence, what many of you do and believe is that you think you kind of have to go back in history and search for better solutions offered by the past and eventually you all end up thinking: Oh, yeah, now I got it. We have forgotten all that what is righteous, good, true, honest, integer, sacred and in short, yes, now I can see it clearly, we have forgotten God and our respective religions! And it all seemingly adds up in your mind and your imagination, and you think now you fully understand what is wrong with the world and what is the root cause of all the lying, cheating, enslaving, censoring, warmongering, semantic deceit, governmental overreach, manipulation and mind control and financial tyranny. Now, you are dead sure. We have forgotten God, and we only need to go back to God, repent and bow down and renew the old contract, with the god of our ancestors and all will be good and as it has been foretold. And the lamb and the lion are hanging out together as best buddies. And yes, there is indeed a certain logic to that musing. But every logic is built and rests on certain assumptions. If the assumptions turn out to have been false, then immediately the logic inverts and turns out to have been a false, limited and thus dangerously wrong logic. The assumption here in our case is, that we have not had enough of this god, religion, striving for holiness, praying, repenting, giving thanks and praises, drawing Jesus and other angelic and divine beings and energies into our heart and soul, inviting the holy spirit to invade our third eye and to take us over and all the rest of the millions of religious obligations. So far so good.

Well, let's zoom out of this picture a little bit and try to look at mankind and its history for let's say the last 2000 years. See, how the religions and the corresponding ideas got absolutely everything in support, which any idea, religion, movement, philosophy, narrative, cosmology, revelation, truth or discovery could only ever dream of. The states got behind it heavily already many centuries ago, the actual law was derived from it, also for centuries already, hundreds of wars have been fought because of it, all literature, fairy tales, scientific progress developed under the censorship, deep influence and the auspicious benevolent guidance of the religions and the religious overseers. The churches today are even the biggest and most wealthy landowners in the entire world. Not even to mention that the Pontifex is the highest arbiter of justice in Ecclesiastical Law and what that means for all maritime and commercial law and more in terms of real-world power. In every European and probably Western village there is a church with its bells ringing almost every hour, the calendars they got their fingers in, the lullabies we sing for our children are full of religious narratives, almost all of our children are being penetrated with deeply black magical rituals during their adolescence. Not to mention a different and even more disgusting kind of penetration done by so many clergy men. We mutilate the genitals of our newborns because of these religions. The philosophies, arts, music, poetry, names, architecture, geographical terminologies are all deeply drenched in religious mythology, terminology and narratives. All in all, what I want to say is that the entire human collective consciousness and subconsciousness is impregnated and contaminated with one archetype by far the most: The religious archetype!

Now that you all can clearly see and observe this for yourself, let me ask you. What the hell makes you think that a more of the old solution, the one that already got 2000 plus years to prove its oh-so-glorious-greatness-and-holiness, and which got all the support and head-start one could ever wish for, would bring the desired result of peace, freedom, happiness, justice, paradise and sovereignty for all!? Maybe you had better start looking at the possibility that there might be something fishy about that very religious idea that you all think is the solution? Haven't you all heard and understood the famous Einstein quote about the definition of insanity being to repeatedly try the same solution but expect a different result? That's exactly what you all are doing here. Maybe it's high times for you to dare to start looking at the world and at reality in a more humble and more truthful way instead of clinging to your old habits, old strategies, old narratives, old and false truths, old always failing non-solutions, old pseudo heroes, your old never-delivering saviors and at your oh so omnipotent but never-the-less arrogantly detached gods.

Well, the very crux of all of this is the following. Let's assume there is a certain conspiracy, a fraud, a cabal, very old, even ancient, and in whatever over time morphing and ever-changing structure, a very old and even ancient striving for power and control by extreme dishonest and deceptive means and all of that. Details don't matter for our discussion here. And as a very simplified generalization of the aim of this we could say that those instigators are trying to take away what is yours. Your property, claims, rights, heritage, your soul, destiny, children, genetics, money, sovereignty and everything else. And what they need for such an endeavor is your acquiescence to the fact that you shall be disowned but they shall not. I don't want to go into the nitty-gritty of the genesis of law here. Others can do, are doing and have done that better than me. But, as is well-known but not well-published-and-shared knowledge, every contract, law and legal procedure requires acquiescence to be acknowledged as such and as rightful, righteous, honorable, integer and overall truth-and-life-endorsing and good.

The problem now that many people have when faced with the question of whether there might indeed be such an almost all-encompassing conspiracy taking place, although they might not be conscious about the above-mentioned fact of law and judiciary dogma and doctrine that fraud requires acquiescence, is that in their guts, everybody knows this! Roman Law Doctrine: Let those who are deceived be deceived! And that's exactly what is causing this so-called cognitive dissonance. The refusal to deal with certain parts of reality and one's experience and facts because it is feared to be too painful. That part of your consciousness, we call it by names like un- or subconsciousness, that already knows that you would have to face your responsibility in all of that and precisely your emotional and thus unconscious rejection and refusal to integrate that part of reality and your part and responsibility in the whole game, because it would be too hard or at least considered to be too uncomfortable to deal with, is what is causing you and many of the people to deny and refuse, often vehemently, to consider the possibility of such a conspiracy and such a great fraud might be real and actually happening. And now we are coming once again full circle. Not only the people who refuse to deal with the possibility of a conspiracy but also many of the people who are already convinced that a lot of conspiracy-shit is happening still do not understand where they themselves are still paying respect, belief and acquiescence to the lie and thus are themselves still enabling the so-called conspiracy.

Allow me to help you out. The trick is that this question for searching for the point where you are giving your acquiescence to being dis-owned and dis-inherited is not there as one point or as one contract, treaty, deal, claim, event or decision but is split into two separate decisions and events. The first decision is that you agree to be dis-owned completely, and the second part is that they are making sure that their claim stays valid and thus they can suck it all up. By splitting the events into two they are managing to slip under the radar what is happening because of emotional confusion. Translate that into legalese mumbo jumbo. You are indeed all giving your acquiescence to being dis-owned of everything, and now you might start to understand what role the religions always have to play and always have done. That's why they were invented in the first place, to confirm the most basic and foundational doctrine of all current religions and law that this The Creator God owns everything, and he owns you too, completely. But I say, if you don't own yourself, it is impossible for you to own anything! You can go study these ecclesiastical matters as long as you want and what you will find is nothing else but that all Western Law is based on this most profound but false doctrine of law. That's where they are getting their proclaimed but false authority from. Without that they have none!

Sure, you will probably say things like, 'Oh, my faith has nothing to do with actual law and state and citizenship and real life today politics, political status and such, that's Stefan-Nonsense'. Well, it's precisely because you think of this matter being such a private and almost innocent and sacred matter that you would never come to dare to even hypothetically connect these sacred and religious affairs with the factual hardcore legal and political status of immense hard real-life consequences. That's precisely the trick. You are not expecting this kind of sinister assault here. That's why your intellectual and spiritual defense was down and not because you might be too stupid. No, you are not, if you want to hear me saying this. Yes, in a sense you've been too naïve and too innocent to expect such a toxic assault on your very life; cause that's what it is. And thus, it sadly succeeded with most of mankind. The trick is that the emotional-energetical reaction has already happened via the dis-owning-conversion of you, although it is very probably unconscious to you and for sure, it wasn't done in good will and good faith and not in full open and honest disclosure, so that every time you ponder about justice and about why everything is so screwed up in the world you eventually end up at the same point: 'Ah, yeah, it's the religious thing; the guilt, the god, the salvation, the evil, the prophecies, we have to wait till the book is fulfilled and then the superstar with long hair will come and make everybody high and the lamb and the lion will hang out together' and so, we all have to stay humble and accept and endure the suffering and go to church - which in actual truth is the very hidden other hand in this conspiracy of evil.

So, here comes part two of the game plan. Because god isn't here, per official catholic (translates to universal) religious doctrine, he's on a prolonged vacation, you know, needs some spare time, adjusting his work-life-balance, you know, doing some veggie shakes, some yoga and maybe a Vipassana retreat for 10 days, you know, kind of refilling the batteries, and so they, the Holy Mother Catholic Church and you know, Peter's got the key, wink, wink. Yeah, the triple key to all the heavens (Jurisdictions that is!), because, remember, god is on rehab, yeah, he had to go, because some fine print shit in the contract with the insurance company, don't know, some technical legalese crap, so, he is not here, and the Christ is obviously not here either – allegedly you all are waiting for his return - but through Peter, the Denier, Oh what a great reputation he has, the job has fallen to the church and, isn't it obvious and as clear as the tears of a boy who was just abused by the priest, that the Mother Church is the only one and the best equipped to be God's impostor, eh sorry, god's deputy-replacement on earth?! So, god's not here, Church is the best and knows shit better than everybody and thus Church is the boss and takes over all god-ownership-rights but Church gives a damned shit about anything only remotely close to what would deserve such a title and position as god but Church still pretends hardcore all this god-ownership-rights to be observed and important for not going to hell or burning at the stake, or getting suicided by the CIA or sodomized by Hillary for that matter, and is collecting as much as it can get and even more and the moment you are speaking up against that Perpetuum Mobile of Evil you will be deemed evil and the Anti-Christ!

In a way, I have to admit, from storyteller to storyteller: Clever! Indeed, a clever plot. The moment you are seeing it through and start telling the people you have unwittingly started to fulfill their own self-insuring false prophecy of being the prophesied evil, aka The Anti-Christ. Clever, but never-the-less a shitty story. In fact, the crudest, most primitive, disgusting and pathetic story I have ever heard in my long life as a storyteller. What a shame! I'm kind of getting a little tired of that shit-show now and I hope that the mechanics of the plot have at least roughly become clear so you can ponder for yourself whether that might explain what's going on here or not. The core message here is that I say that this action has been split into two because you all are by far not dumb enough that if someone came and asked you to give away all your property and all your rights you all would for sure reject but when you've already declared to freely give everything away to God, then the step to make sure that it will end up in the thieves' pockets is not that difficult anymore. Especially because your so-called Bullshit-sensor is closed off already via the evil religious soul-treaty. Remember you've already signed away everything to this god, a fictitious something that, in case you are honest with yourself, you don't know anything about for real.

So, I declare: Non Habemus Papam! There won't be any Pope anymore. That kind of sinister nonsense is over, for once and all. The whole ugly mess: Papacy, Roman Curia, Holy See, Vatican, Catholic Church, Roman Catholic Church, Patriarch of Jerusalem, Vatican Bank (IOR), Jesuits, Opus Dei, Knights of Malta, Swiss Guards plus the many hidden external hands attached; the whole lot of it, down the drain of liquidation. Or should I say transmutation?! Or even better, transubstantiation! But probably not that kind of transubstantiation that they have been talking about all their lives. Half of The Chair is already unseated. So, I say: No! The strongest word and the most profound yes. Remember, it's even asked in your bible, something along the lines: And you just say one word, this one word and you shall be absolutely free and unbound! Well, this word is not any name of whatsoever messenger, entity, demon, God or whatnot. It's not any spell or mantra nor any Abra Kadabra or Simsallabim or Sesame Open Up or something like that. No! No, this is the word. It's that simple and straight forward. Because no is the strongest yes one can give. That's the seemingly paradox secret here. Without the possibility of no, no meaningful yes could ever exist. And vice versa, for sure. Without the option of a conscious yes one couldn't know what no is. So, now I'm saying no, I am not subject to Rome! And the same holds true for all of you.
